

Jessica Taylor
MMIR Office Advisory Council Member
Mdewakanton Dakota and Anishinaabe

Jessica Taylor is Mdewakanton Dakota and Anishinaabe. As a mother to two daughters, Taylor wants to show them what a strong woman does for her community and her people.

As an enrolled member of Tinta Wita, who grew up in South Minneapolis to an adopted family; she is also passionate about ICWA and is a member of the newly formed Children's Justice Initiative, State-Tribal Partnership Committee.

Along with her role as Co-Chair of the MMIR Office's Advisory Council, she strives to bring awareness of the issues affecting Indian Country to the greater public.